

Berry Seed Facial Cream

a simple facial cream made with berry oils

Ingredients

Oil Phase

- 18 grams Chokeberry Seed Oil
- 18 grams Raspberry Seed Oil
- 10 grams Emulsifying Wax
- 2 grams Stearic Acid

Water Phase

- 35 grams Lavandula Hydrosol
- 35 grams Neroli Hydrosol
- 2 grams Palm-Free Organic Glycerin

Additives

- 30 drops Seabuckthorn Berry Total CO2 Extract
- 2.4 grams LactoCoconut Extract Preservative
- 2.4 grams Lactobacillus Ferment Water Soluble Preservative

Makes about two 1-ounce jars

Directions:

1. Combine water and oil phase ingredients in two separate heat-proof containers. Warm each container until solid ingredients are fully melted. Try to get both containers to about the same temperature before proceeding to step two.
2. Slowly drizzle the water phase ingredients into the oil phase ingredients while whisking continuously. Continue to whisk vigorously until the mixture cools and thickens. (This may take 5-10 minutes.)
3. Add additives to thickened cream and mix well until they have been fully blended.

Usage & Packaging:

- To use, simply smooth a small dab of cream onto facial skin and massage in a gentle circular motion until absorbed.
- Our Berry Seed Facial Cream looks gorgeous in our 1-ounce Flint Jars.
- While we have added a preservative to this recipe, please keep in mind that this recipe was formulated for personal use. If you plan to use this formula as inspiration for a commercial product we highly recommend having your formulation professionally challenge tested for safety and stability.
